

Quality policy

Caldaro is the link between man and machine; our mission is to optimise that interface. For us, there is nothing as important as human interaction, which is why we must satisfy the highest quality and sustainability standards to always be the strongest link. We achieve this by offering optimised solutions to the unique needs of our customers.

To achieve this, it is essential that all staff, and our partners, strive to understand the customer's requirements and expectations for total quality.

We ensure that:

- Customer requirements are known, well understood, and documented
- Each employee has the proper skills and resources for the job
- The product delivered meets the agreed quality
- Deliveries are flawless and on time

Caldaro should be an obvious choice, and every meeting and delivery should be a good recommendation for future business. We work on continuous improvement at our company and with our partners.
